

Coach Educator Qualification Levels

To teach UKCC coach courses, you must be qualified at the equivalent of (at least) the level above. Because UKCC has 4 levels replacing the 5 levels of BOF coach, BOF level 2 is not sufficient qualification for people to teach UKCC level 1. Some people who want to be coach educators therefore need to undertake some additional training.

Initially, this affects just the current (BOF) level 2 coaches who want to teach the UKCC level 1 course. These people can either wait for the UKCC level 2 qualification and its bridging course, or progress to BOF level 3 now. In addition, current level 3 coaches who hope to teach the UKCC level 2 course in 2009 might like to progress now to BOF level 4.
